Practitioner Directory Data Sources:

Name--Practitioners tell Carisk their name when they join the Carisk Behavioral Health (formerly Concordia) network and every 3 years thereafter when they complete the recredentialing process. Changes to information between 3 year cycles may not be reflected until the next 3 year cycle. If Carisk receives new information between cycles, the directory is updated. Carisk does not verify practitioner name.

Gender: Practitioners tell Carisk their gender when they join the network and every 3 years thereafter when they complete the recredentialing process. Changes to information between 3 year cycles may not be reflected until the next 3 year cycle. If Carisk receives new information between cycles, the directory is updated. Carisk does not verify practitioner gender.

Discipline/provider type: Discipline/provider type means the practitioner's area of professional training such as physician, psychologist, social worker, mental health counselor. Practitioners tell Carisk their discipline/provider type when they join the network and every 3 years thereafter when they complete the recredentialing process. Carisk verifies discipline/provider type when practitioners join the network. Changes to information between 3 year cycles may not be reflected until the next 3 year reporting cycle. If Carisk receives new information between cycles, the information is verified and the directory is updated.

Specialty--Specialty means the practitioner has completed additional education and training in a specific area after completing medical or professional school. Practitioners tell Carisk specialty information when they join the network and every 3 years thereafter when they complete the recredentialing process. Carisk verifies specialty training at these times. Changes to information between 3 year cycles may not be reflected until the next 3 year cycle. If Carisk receives new information between cycles, the directory is updated.

Organization affiliations--Organization Affiliation means the provider with which the practitioner works or is associated. Practitioners tell Carisk Behavioral Health (formerly Concordia) their organization affiliation when they join the network and every 3 years thereafter when they complete the recredentialing process. Changes to information between 3 year cycles may not be reflected until the next 3 year cycle. If Carisk receives new information between cycles, the directory is updated. Carisk does not verify organization affiliation.

Board certification: Board Certification means the practitioner has completed additional education and training in a specific area after completing medical or professional school and has successfully passed an examination indicating expertise in this area. Practitioners tell Carisk board certification information when they join the network and every 3 years thereafter when they complete the recredentialing process. Carisk verifies board certification from the issuing entity at these times. Changes to information between 3 year cycles may not be reflected until the next 3 year cycle. If Carisk receives new information between cycles, the directory is updated. For the most current board certification information, go to www.certificationmatters.org/ and search by name or specialty for your practitioner's information.

Accepting new patients: Accepting New Patients means the practitioner will see new patients in the practice. Practitioners tell Carisk information about accepting new patients when they join the network and every 3 years thereafter when they complete the recredentialing process. Changes to information between 3 year cycles may not be reflected until the next 3 year cycle. If Carisk receives new information between cycles, the directory is updated. Carisk does not verify accepting new patients' information.
